

Red Riding Hood

Act 1: Scene 1 - The Library

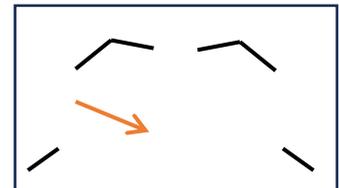

Hansel: ...would have cursed you instead.

Anyone hungry? I've got fresh food from Grandma. It's much better than just delivering goodies. I get to make them, too!

Hansel: ...exactly where we are. Which we do... mostly!

And are you picking herbs to help with the curse?

Gretel: ...I hope one will help change Hansel back.

That's clever. I guess you two walk in the forest a lot?

Hansel: ...a two-person rescue team.

And you never get lost? I mean, this forest – is not very friendly.

Gretel: ...nothing here scares us.

Well, I'm taking a shortcut to deliver Grandma's fresh jams. She's famous for them – wild berries, secret herbs, and a dash of magic.

Hansel: Jams? Like... for bread?

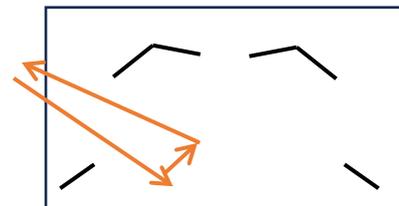

Yup. The very best kind. Grandma says food keeps people together—even when storms come.

Hansel: ...something strange is going on.

Any idea what's causing this?

Gretel: ...any witches, don't mention us.

Don't worry, I won't. And good luck with that curse, Hansel.
